FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Good Guys Performance at SOHO House Nashville

Black Creative Collective of Artists to Share Their Stories

Nashville, TN – Good Guys Enterprises will be performing at SOHO House in Nashville to bring them closer to the community they love. Good Guys are a group of creatives who are dedicated to uplifting and providing a place to develop future artists, leaders, and shapers of the next generation. The group of artists was created and founded by Joshua Taylor-Gooch in 2021. Since they have found ways to reach Gen-Z and millennials through their various mediums of art and influence.

Good Guys will have performances featuring shelldhn, Ashley Emj, and Narleyy. These artists are in the genres of R&B, Soul, Hip-Hop, and Contemporary. The show will serve as one of the final events of Good Guys to close out their year. The team is ecstatic for this show to be hosted by SOHO House Nashville as they have a delightful menu of Italian contemporary cuisine and premium holiday cocktails. The evening will be filled with good music, good food, and good company.

“My goal is to build a platform for a group of Black creatives with similarities to showcase what being a team can do, not just to a community, but to an entire culture, with help from everyone. No matter who you are or where you are from.” said Joshua Taylor-Gooch, Good Guys Enterprises Founder.

For more information about attending the event, download the SOHO House App to book your spot or DM the @goodguys.tn page with your name before the guest list fills. Fly festive attire is encouraged for attendees.
